EMBASSY OF BELGIUM

Dear Mr. Rove

For years, the DCMs of the Embassies of the 15 Member States of the European Union have been organizing monthly luncheons which feature an American guest speaker and an open discussion (that remains diplomatically confidential.)

Just as my kids feel comfortable enough to jump the fence to retrieve an errant ball, I hope I may presume on your neighborliness to invite you to attend our next luncheon that I will host on July 10 at the Belgian Ambassador's residence (2300 Foxhall Road). Our routine is strictly respected, with drinks starting at 12.30 and guests ready to leave at 2 PM.

I am confident that my colleagues would be delighted to hear your vision of this Administration on the eve of an election that could prove more important than most, both in national and international terms. I know our capitals will be extremely interested in hearing from you on this theme.

with my best regards

André Querton
Minister
Deputy Chief of Mission

Dear Dr. Rice:

On behalf of the over 300,000 members of Hadassah, the Women's Zionist Organization of America, I am delighted to invite you to address our 88th National Convention, July 21-24, 2002 at Disney's Coronado Springs Resort, Lake Buena Vista, Florida. We expect at least 2000 of our top leadership from across the country to be in attendance.

We would like to invite you to be the keynote speaker at our Gala Opening Session, on Sunday night, July 21, 2002, from 8:00 pm - 9:45 pm. Of course, if this time is not convenient, we will gladly accommodate your schedule at any time during the Convention, which will be held from Sunday, July 21 through 12:00 noon on Wednesday, July 24, 2002. Our members continue to appreciate the President's leadership in the war on terrorism, and his personal commitment to the U.S.-Israel relationship. We also appreciate your strong commitment to a secure Israel, and to the advancement of democratic values around the world.

As the largest women's organization in the United States, as well as the largest Jewish membership organization, our members are inspired by your achievements in shaping American foreign policy during this historic time. Your example demonstrates in the best possible way that qualified, competent women should be involved at the highest levels in foreign and defense policy issues. For 90 years, our network of volunteers around the United States has helped educate, train, and empower American women, encouraging them to speak out on issues of concern. You embody the best example of these values.

Hadassah's advocacy extends to the United Nations, and combines with our work at our hospitals and schools in Israel to forge a better future for all of the people of the Middle East, in real, tangible actions. We continue to help forge bridges to peace between the people of Israel and her neighbors, despite difficult political realities. Hadassah always has known that just as disease does not recognize political borders, neither can health care and education.

We hope that you will accept our invitation to address our Convention delegates. I have asked Amy Goldstein, National Director of Hadassah's Israel, Zionist and International Affairs to follow-up with your offices regarding this invitation.

Sincerely,

Bonnie Lipton

CALIFORNIA ASSOCIATION OF PUBLIC HOSPITALS AND HEALTH SYSTEMS

June 27, 2002

Karl Rove
Senior Advisor to the President
The White House
Washington, DC 20502

Dear Mr. Rove:

The California Association of Public Hospitals and Health Systems (CAPH) would like to request a meeting with you to discuss several critical federal issues facing our state's public hospitals that provide access to care for low-income and uninsured Californians.

In particular, the status of California's pending Selective Provider Contracting Program waiver—the renewal of which is currently under consideration by the Administration—is of very serious concern to public hospitals and health systems. The loss of an estimated $600 million in the next two years that will result if the waiver is not approved as submitted will harm California's entire health care system and gravely reduce access to health care services, including primary and preventive care, hospital services and emergency and trauma care for patients and communities throughout the state. Further, California's safety net hospitals face an additional loss of $184 million in federal Medicaid funds effective October 1, 2002 if action is not taken to prevent scheduled reductions to the Disproportionate Share Hospital (DSH) program pursuant to the Balanced Budget Act of 1997.

We would very much appreciate the opportunity to meet with you in person to discuss these issues in further detail. CAPH and our members will be in Washington, DC next month and would respectfully request a meeting with you July 16 or July 17. CAPH will follow up with your office in the next few days regarding this request. Thank you for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Denise K. Martin

Karl,

Sorry I missed you when I called today. I was calling in regards to a speaking opportunity with some of my industry's top leaders. The Electric Power Supply Association (EPSA) is holding a reception and dinner at 6 p.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 4, 2002. It will be at the Willard and we would be delighted if you would agree to speak at a convenient point during the evening.

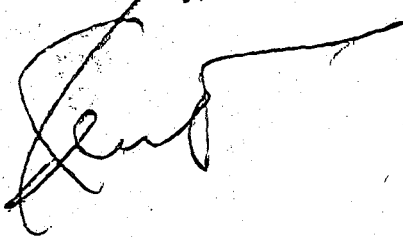

I think this would be an excellent opportunity to communicate with these senior executives regarding the administration's energy policies and expectations, as well as the political ramifications resulting from the recent spate of corporate scandals.

EPSA is the national trade association representing competitive power suppliers, including independent power producers, merchant generators and power marketers. (I'm sure you'll be impressed to learn that I was the Chairman for the last two years!) These suppliers, who account for more than a third of the nation's installed generating capacity, provide reliable and competitively priced electricity from environmentally responsible facilities serving global power markets. We seek to bring the benefits of competition to all power customers.

We anticipate that about 25 CEOs and COOs will be attending, including Steve Bergstrom, COO of Dynegy; Jim Donnell, CEO, Duke Energy North America; Frank Cassidy, COO, PSEG Generation, and Marce Fuller, CEO, Mirant Corp. Mark McKinnon, whose firm represents EPSA, may also be participating.

It would be an honor if you would join us. I'll give you a call later to try to twist your arm on this. Thanks.

Sincerely,

Mr. Karl Rove

Washington, D.C. 20503

Dear Karl:

Help. I need your help. Former President Bush will be honored by the World Affairs Council of Greater Dallas on the evening of November 15th. I have discovered a new piece of equipment called Teleportec, an unusual device that allows an individual to "virtually" appear as if he is on a stage via television. He can actually see and interact with the audience or the person who is being featured.

It would be the greatest thing if President George W. Bush could pay a "Teleport" visit that evening when his father is being honored for all of his activities in the international arena. He is receiving the prestigious Neil Mallon Award, the highest honor of the Council. Of course, we all know the namesake and why this event is so important that he accepted it while turning away virtually every other World Affairs Council invitation.

Attached is a disk that shows you how the device works. The people from Telpport, including Jim Young of EDS, whom I'm sure you've met in years past, would work with WHCA to make this happen in the best way.

Could you check to see if this would be possible. We would love to have Laura appear with President Bush, if willing. Two people can appear within the window.

I mentioned this to Karen earlier, thinking that the White House may have other uses for this device and that they may be a candidate to actually purchase one in the future. No, I own no stock and have no interest in the deal—it just simply is something neat.

Can you be of assistance to us on this?

Sincerely,

The following range of products are available for purchase, lease or rental:

Conference System - The conference table is the ideal meeting room solution. It enables a person to be teleported to appear within an apparent 3-D environment at a boardroom table and have eye-to-eye contact with all participants. The person will feel a sense of presence at the meeting as if they are actually sitting in the chair at the table.

Lectern System - The Teleportec lectern is perfect for training, events and conferences. A person can be teleported from anywhere in the world and appear in apparent 3-D standing behind a lectern on stage or within a training room. The teleported person can see and interact with the audience as if they are at the front of the room or on stage.

Custom Solutions - Teleportec can design fully integrated solutions to meet your particular requirements. Contact us for more information.

Retail

Teleportec has designed solutions for retail companies that can beam a person live and life-size into a store from a remote location to promote new products and advertise services. This solution is also ideal for selling financial or health care services in store without it being necessary to have the expertise on site. Teleportec is also able to create life-sized computer generated people to appear in the store to help with questions on products and services. Our solution can integrate within existing aisles or form a virtual help desk for customer support. Teleportec solutions can be branded to meet with client requirements.

Education

Teleportec Conferencing makes it possible for teachers, artists or masters of industry to appear live and life-sized within an apparent 3-D environment in your classroom. They can see and interact with students as if they are actually in the room. Schools from across the world are already part of a global network that is enabling expertise to be shared and disseminated across the globe. Your organisation can be part of this new dimension in learning.

Our easy to use systems provide instant access to a world of knowledge that can be utilized to motivate the gifted and talented, enhance cultural exchange programs and generally add value to the curriculum. PowerPoint presentations can also be used for the delivery of content in real time.

Financial Services

Teleportec offers fully integrated solutions that make it possible for financial services to be delivered direct to the customer. A bank representative can now meet with customers across a wide geographical area, face-to-face and have a natural communication with them, all without having to leave the office. Teleportec is working in partnership with eye-c Ltd to bring a new dimension to the business of financial services. In addition, data sharing capabilities can also allow mortgage or loan applications to be viewed and discussed in real time.

Recent research completed by a major UK bank using Teleportec technology found that 92% of customers would buy services from a teleported financial service representative. Customers felt that technology delivers the necessary personal contact and sense of trust.

Events & Conferences

The Teleportec Lectern makes it possible for keynote speakers or your Chief Executive to appear live and life-sized within an apparent 3-D environment at your conference from anywhere in the world. They will appear on stage behind a lectern and be able to see and interact with the audience as if they are actually there.

Teleportec offers an easy to use, affordable package that will add an extra dimension to your event which is guaranteed to make it a memorable occasion. Past experience suggests that events using this technology attract positive press and media attention.

Corporate Communication

Face-to-face meetings will always be an essential part of doing business. The eye-to-eye contact; the nuances of body language and personal sense of presence are vital to reinforce verbal communication where important decisions are being made. Increasing costs, security considerations and the inefficiencies of travel are making distance a growing barrier to face-to-face communication. This threatens to undermine business competitiveness.

The Teleportec Conference system makes distance irrelevant. You can be digitally teleported from your office to appear within an apparent 3-D environment, in a chair at the table and have natural conversation with the meeting participants, even if they are on the other side of the world. Users have found that they are able to achieve the same objectives as if they were actually there in the room.

VIA FACSIMILE

Dear Ken,

Thanks again for your assistance in helping us secure Mrs. Bush for participation in the Educational CHOICE Charitable Trust fundraising event here in Indianapolis. Attached is the letter of request which was sent to Mrs. Bush.

The Educational CHOICE Charitable Trust is a non-partisan organization with a Board composed of Republicans, Democrats and Independents. Our current chairman is Fred Klipsch who is a very active Republican and our Treasurer is Louis Mahern who is a very active Democrat. Louis was a state Senator for many years and then ran for Mayor against Steve Goldsmith. I do not know the political affiliations of all of our other Board members. (As I mentioned earlier, Mitch Daniels was a Board member before he joined the Bush team.)

Although our donor base tends to be mostly Republican, we have had a number of prominent Democrats who have financially supported the program.

As you know, the Educational CHOICE Charitable Trust's mission is to raise funds to support scholarships for low-income inner-city kids. Golden Rule Insurance Company pays the administrative costs of running the program which ensures that 100% of all donations are used for scholarships. More details about the program are provided in the attached letter to Mrs. Bush.

Please let me know if there is any additional information that you need.

It was a pleasure seeing you in Washington last week. Thanks for taking so much time to visit with me. I do look forward to talking to you soon.

All the best,

Allan B. Hubbard

Mrs. Laura Bush
% Julie Thomas
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue
Washington, D.C. 20500

Dear Laura,

Congratulations for everything that you and the President have been doing for the past year. The two of you have truly been incredible since September 11th. The country has looked to you for leadership, and you have provided it in spades.

Kath and I enjoyed seeing both of you at your Christmas party. Thanks so much for including us. You were so kind to apologize to us for having to wait so long to see the two of you. Well, to be perfectly frank, we should have apologized to you for having to stand up for such a long period of time greeting so many friends of yours.

Kath and I believe that the biggest problem today facing communities across the country is the poor education opportunities for kids from low-income families who live in the inner-cities. As I know you are aware, kids who attend these public inner-city schools perform poorly on standardized tests. In 2001 in Indianapolis, 39% passed the 3rd grade test, 17% passed the 6th grade test, and only 27% passed the 8th grade test. For some schools the passing rate was actually less than 10% for each of these grades.

Unfortunately, as you know, low-income parents who live in the inner-city do not have a choice about where to send their kids to school. They are required to send their kids to these failing schools.

Ten years ago, Pat Rooney, a citizen of Indianapolis, became frustrated with the refusal of our elected officials to address this problem. His company committed to giving $400,000 a year to support scholarships for inner-city kids here in Indianapolis so they could go to the school of their choice. He also committed to providing for the administrative costs of running this scholarship program which is called the Educational CHOICE Charitable Trust

To earn a scholarship a child must qualify for the federal reduced-price lunch program (which means he/she is poor) and must also cover the tuition remaining after the Educational CHOICE Charitable Trust awards its one-half tuition scholarship, which is worth up to $1,000. Since its inception, the program has been, unfortunately, incredibly popular. Nearly 2,000 kids will be educated in approximately 75 different private schools this year. There are more than 500 kids on the waiting list.

A couple of years ago, we raised additional funding and gave parents the opportunity to participate in a lottery. Nearly 6,000 kids participated in the lottery for 625 scholarships. (This program is Kath's and my number one charity to which we donate $50,000 per year.)

Although most of these church and private schools operate with tuition levels of $2,000 to $3,000, their education results are quite impressive. In general, the longer kids are in public schools, the worse they do on standardized tests. The longer they are in private schools, the better they do on these same tests. The attached graph illustrates this phenomenon.

To celebrate our 10th anniversary, but more importantly to raise additional funding to meet the demand for scholarships, we plan to hold a fundraising dinner. We would love for you to be the honorary chairperson of this event and, of course, we can schedule the event around your calendar.

I know you have a great passion for reading. We would also love to sponsor an event to promote reading while you are here.

I realize you receive many, many more invitations than you can possibly accept. If this does not work for you, I certainly understand. It would be helpful to receive your response as soon as possible so we can begin making definitive plans for the event.

Again, thanks so much for everything you do as the First Lady. We are all so very proud of you.

Sincerely yours,

Allan B. Hubbard

P.S. By the way, our program here in Indianapolis was the first of its kind and has led to 85 similar programs in the country. As you probably know, three years ago Ted Forstman and John Walton created the Children's Scholarship Fund which was modeled on our program and raised money for over 45,000 kids across the country.

I've included copies of letters sent by scholarship recipients to our donors.
