Video Taping: National Association of Blacks in Criminal Justice 29th
Annual Conference
June 29, 2002
Draft #2

Thank you very much. I am honored to join everyone at the National Association of Blacks in Criminal Justice as you gather for your 29th Annual Conference.

I thank all of you for your <sup>the</sup> commitment to the cause of justice. And I salute you for working with my Department of Labor to find ways of helping people leave their past behind and build a better future.

Last year, I announced one of the most important commitments of my administration, the Faith-Based and Community Initiative. The purpose is to apply the compassion of America to help solve the problems of our country.

This initiative recognizes the power of faith in helping heal some of our nation's wounds. This initiative will rally the armies of compassion which are spread throughout the United States of America. And this initiative acknowledges that our greatest strength is the hearts and souls of the American people.

Since the attacks of September the 11th, it has become obvious to everyone how essential the community and faith-based groups are to the well-being of our nation. They have saved lives. They have provided hope. They have helped heal the nation's wounds.

Right now, this office is working to eliminate barriers that discriminate against community and faith-based organizations. Government cannot stand in the way of the good works of the people in our neighborhoods. And that's why my Department of Labor is working with all of you to develop a network of faith-based and community programs to help mentor and employ those who were once in prison.

Government must expedite and stand on the side of faith-based programs. We should not discriminate at the federal level against people who are trying to help us solve the nation's problems.

This office will also work closely with members of Congress from both parties to pass legislation that will put government squarely on the side of our faith- and community-based groups.

I salute all of you for what you have done and what you are doing. Working together, we can make a difference. Thank you. May God bless you. And may God bless America.

Video Taping: Daughters of the American Revolution
Draft #2

I am honored to address to the 111th National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution Annual Continental Congress.

One of the great things about living in the White House is that I have some great neighbors. And just right down the street from me is the DAR Constitution Hall. What a beautiful hall. And what a wonderful organization.

Since 1890, this outstanding organization has sought to honor the memory and the purpose of the American Revolution. Today, there are more than 170,000 DAR members in some 3,000 chapters all across America. And your service to your country is more important than ever.

Today, we find ourselves at war ... fighting an enemy whose evil is beyond comprehension. We did not seek this conflict, nor did we begin it. But we will fight it, and we will win it.

Fighting terror will be costly. And that is why I have proposed the largest increase in defense spending since Ronald Reagan was President. After all, while the price of freedom and security is high, it is never too high. Whatever it costs to defend our country, we will pay.

At the same time we fight this war overseas, we must protect and secure our homeland. ~~Several weeks ago, at an event hosted by the DAR, Governor Tom Ridge announced the homeland security advisory system.~~

And I also recently proposed a permanent Cabinet-level Department of Homeland Security to unite essential agencies that must work more closely together. Employees of this new agency will come to work every morning knowing their most important job is to protect their fellow citizens.

But I also want to make to make America a better place. And we can do that by promoting a sound economic policy. Any time someone wants to work and cannot find a job, I am concerned. That is why we passed a historic tax cut for the American people that will help promote job creation and economic growth. And I urge Congress to make this tax permanent.

We also need education reform ... one that increases local control, insists on high standards, and leaves no child behind. And we must also continue to call upon the American people to love a neighbor as you would like to be love yourself. Many, including the DAR, are doing this already. And this is the gathering momentum of a thousand acts of compassion and kindness which show the world the true spirit of America.

I thank the Daughters of the American Revolution for your spirit and your service. May we always remember our noble past. And may we never stop looking forward to our country's great future. May God bless the Daughters of the American Revolution. And may God bless America.

Video Taping: Focus on the Family
Draft #2

Thank you very much. I am honored to join all of you at Focus on the Family as you celebrate your first twenty-five years. I especially want to salute my friend James Dobson for his leadership and his commitment to that sacred bedrock of our society—the American family.

For twenty-five years, Focus on the Family has sought to protect our families and promote our values. And they are values that you and I share together. We believe in fostering a culture of life—and that marriage and family are sacred institutions that should be preserved and strengthened.

We believe that life is a creation, not a commodity – and that our children are gifts to be loved and protected, not products to be designed and manufactured by human cloning.

We believe that protecting human dignity and promoting human rights should be at the center of America's foreign policy – and that our government should view the good people who work in faith-based charities as partners, not rivals.

We believe that the days of discriminating against religious institutions simply because they are religious must come to an end.

Faith teaches us that God has a special concern for the poor and that faith proves itself through actions and sacrifice, through acts of kindness and caring for those in need. For some people, Jesus's admonition to care for "the least of these" is an admirable moral teaching. For many Baptists, it is a way of life.

Faith is also a source of comfort during times of grief. We saw this in the aftermath of the attacks on September 11th. Millions of Americans turned to prayer for wisdom and resolve, for compassion and courage, and for grace and mercy. And in these moments of prayer we were reminded of important truths – that suffering is temporary, that hope is eternal, and that ruthless will not inherit the Earth.

Many of you have prayed for my family and me. We have felt sustained and uplifted by your prayers – and Laura and I are incredibly grateful to you for them. We consider your prayers to be among our most precious gifts.

Congratulations on twenty-five years. May God bless Focus on the Family. And may God bless America.

Annual Conference
Draft #2

Thank you very much. I am honored to join everyone at the National Association of Blacks in Criminal Justice as you gather for your 29th Annual Conference.

I thank all of you for your commitment to <sup>the</sup> cause of justice. And I salute you for working with ~~my~~ Department of Labor to find ways of helping people leave their past behind and build a better future.

Last year, I announced one of the most important commitments of my administration, the Faith-Based and Community Initiative. The purpose is to apply the compassion of America to help solve the problems of our country.

This initiative recognizes the power of faith in helping heal some of our nation's wounds. This initiative will rally the armies of compassion which are spread throughout the United States of America. And this initiative acknowledges that our greatest strength is the hearts and souls of the American people.

Since the attacks of September the 11th, it has become obvious to everyone how essential the community and faith-based groups are to the well-being of our nation. They have saved lives. They have provided hope. They have helped heal the nation's wounds.

Right now, this office is working to eliminate barriers that discriminate against community and faith-based organizations. Government cannot stand in the way of the good works of the people in our neighborhoods. And that's why ~~my~~ <sup>I have asked the</sup> Department of Labor ~~is working~~ <sup>to work</sup> with all of you to develop a network of faith-based and community programs to help mentor and employ those who were once in prison.

Government must expedite and stand on the side of faith-based programs. We should not discriminate at the federal level against people who are trying to help us solve the nation's problems.

This office will also work closely with members of Congress from both parties to pass legislation that will put government squarely on the side of our faith- and community based groups.

I salute all of you for what you have done and what you are doing. Working together, we can make a difference. Thank you. May God bless you. And may God bless America.

Video Taping: Focus on the Family
Draft #2

Thank you very much. I am honored to join all of you at Focus on the Family as you celebrate your first twenty-five years. I especially want to salute my friend James Dobson for his leadership and his commitment to that sacred bedrock of our society—the American family.

For twenty-five years, Focus on the Family has sought to protect our families and promote our values. And they are values that you and I share together. We believe in fostering a culture of life – and that marriage and family are sacred institutions that should be preserved and strengthened.

We believe that life is a creation, not a commodity – and that our children are gifts to be loved and protected, not products to be designed and manufactured by human cloning.

We believe that protecting human dignity and promoting human rights should be at the center of America's foreign policy – and that our government should view the good people who work in faith-based charities as partners, not rivals.

We believe that the days of discriminating against religious institutions simply because they are religious must come to an end.

Faith teaches us that God has a special concern for the poor and that faith proves itself through actions and sacrifice, through acts of kindness and caring for those in need. For some people, Jesus's admonition to care for "the least of these" is an admirable moral teaching. For many Baptists, it is a way of life.

Faith is also a source of comfort during times of grief. We saw this in the aftermath of the attacks on September 11th. Millions of Americans turned to prayer for wisdom and resolve, for compassion and courage, and for grace and mercy. And in these moments of prayer we were reminded of important truths – that suffering is temporary, that hope is eternal, and that ruthless will not inherit the Earth.

Many of you have prayed for my family and me. We have felt sustained and uplifted by your prayers – and Laura and I are incredibly grateful to you for them. We consider your prayers to be among our most precious gifts.

Congratulations on twenty-five years. May God bless Focus on the Family. And may God bless America.

Draft #2

I am honored to address to the 111th National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution Annual Continental Congress.

One of the great things about living in the White House is that I have some great neighbors. And just right down the street from me is the DAR Constitution Hall. What a beautiful hall. And what a wonderful organization.

Since 1890, this outstanding organization has sought to honor the memory and the purpose of the American Revolution. Today, there are more than 170,000 DAR members in some 3,000 chapters all across America. And your service to your country is more important than ever.

Today, we find ourselves at war ... fighting an enemy whose evil is beyond comprehension. We did not seek this conflict, nor did we begin it. But we will fight it, and we will win it.

Fighting terror will be costly. And that is why I have proposed the largest increase in defense spending since Ronald Reagan was President. After all, while the price of freedom and security is high, it is never too high. Whatever it costs to defend our country, we will pay.

At the same time we fight this war overseas, we must protect and secure our homeland. Several weeks ago, at an event hosted by the DAR, Governor Tom Ridge announced the homeland security advisory system.

And I also recently proposed a permanent Cabinet-level Department of Homeland Security to unite essential agencies that must work more closely together. Employees of this new agency will come to work every morning knowing their most important job is to protect their fellow citizens.

But I also want to make to make America a better place. And we can do that by promoting a sound economic policy. Any time someone wants to work and cannot find a job, I am concerned. That is why we passed a historic tax cut for the American people that will help promote job creation and economic growth. And I urge Congress to make this tax permanent.

ed and passed important

We also need education reform ... one that increases local control, insists on high standards, and leaves no child behind. And we must also continue to call upon the American people to love a neighbor as you would like to be love yourself. Many, including the DAR, are doing this already. And this is the gathering momentum of a thousand acts of compassion and kindness which show the world the true spirit of America.

J

I thank the Daughters of the American Revolution for your spirit and your service. May we always remember our noble past. And may we never stop looking forward to our country's great future. May God bless the Daughters of the American Revolution. And may God bless America.

Thank you very much. I am honored to join all of you at Focus on the Family as you celebrate your first twenty-five years. I especially want to salute my friend James Dobson for his leadership and his commitment to that sacred bedrock of our society—the American family.

For twenty-five years, Focus on the Family has sought to protect our families and promote our values. And they are values that you and I share together. We believe in fostering a culture of life – and that marriage and family are sacred institutions that should be preserved and strengthened.

We believe that life is a creation, not a commodity – and that our children are gifts to be loved and protected, not products to be designed and manufactured by human cloning.

We believe that protecting human dignity and promoting human rights should be at the center of America's foreign policy – and that our government should view the good people who work in faith-based charities as partners, not rivals.

We believe that the days of discriminating against religious institutions simply because they are religious must come to an end.

Faith teaches us that God has a special concern for the poor and that faith proves itself through actions and sacrifice, through acts of kindness and caring for those in need. For some people, Jesus's admonition to care for "the least of these" is an admirable moral teaching. For many Baptists, it is a way of life.

Faith is also a source of comfort during times of grief. We saw this in the aftermath of the attacks on September 11th. Millions of Americans turned to prayer for wisdom and resolve, for compassion and courage, and for grace and mercy. And in these moments of prayer we were reminded of important truths – that suffering is temporary, that hope is eternal, and that ruthless will not inherit the Earth.

Many of you have prayed for my family and me. We have felt sustained and uplifted by your prayers – and Laura and I are incredibly grateful to you for them. We consider your prayers to be among our most precious gifts.

Congratulations on twenty-five years. May God bless Focus on the Family. And may God bless America.

Draft #2

Speak to [Signature]

Thank you very much. I am honored to join everyone at the National Association of Blacks in Criminal Justice as you gather for your 29th Annual Conference and Training Institute.

I thank all of you for your commitment to the cause of justice. And I salute you for working with my Department of Labor to find ways of helping people leave their past behind and build a better future.

Last year, I announced one of the most important commitments of my administration, the Faith-Based and Community Initiative. The purpose is to apply the compassion of America to help solve the problems of our country.

This initiative recognizes the power of faith in helping heal some of our nation's wounds. This initiative will rally the armies of compassion which are spread throughout the United States of America. And this initiative acknowledges that our greatest strength is the hearts and souls of the American people.

apostrophe front

Since the attacks of September the 11th, it has become obvious to everyone how essential the community and faith-based groups are to the well-being of our nation. They have saved lives. They have provided hope. They have helped heal the nation's wounds.

that is

Right now, this office is working to eliminate barriers that discriminate against community and faith-based organizations. Government cannot stand in the way of the good works of the people in our neighborhoods. And that's why my Department of Labor is working with all of you to develop a network of faith-based and community programs to help mentor and employ those who were once in prison.

Government must expedite and stand on the side of faith-based programs. We should not discriminate at the federal level against people who are trying to help us solve the nation's problems.

This office will also work closely with members of Congress from both parties to pass legislation that will put government squarely on the side of our faith- and community based groups.

I salute all of you for what you have done and what you are doing. Working together, we can make a difference. Thank you. May God bless you. And may God bless America.

Video Taping: Daughters of the American Revolution
June 29, 2002
Draft #2

I am honored to address to the 111th National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution Annual Continental Congress.

One of the great things about living in the White House is that I have some great neighbors. And just ~~right down the street~~ <sup>a few blocks away</sup> from me is the DAR Constitution Hall <sup>is on D Street. POTUS lives on Penn.</sup> What a beautiful hall. And what a wonderful organization.

Since 1890, this outstanding organization has sought to honor the memory and the purpose of the American Revolution. Today, there are more than 170,000 DAR members in some 3,000 chapters all across America. And your service to your country is more important than ever.

Today, we find ourselves at war ... fighting an enemy whose evil is beyond comprehension. We did not seek this conflict, nor did we begin it. But we will fight it, and we will win it.

Fighting terror will be costly. And that is why I have proposed the largest increase in defense spending since Ronald Reagan was President. After all, while the price of freedom and security is high, it is never too high. Whatever it costs to defend our country, we will pay.

At the same time we fight this war overseas, we must protect and secure our homeland. Several weeks ago, at an event hosted by the DAR, Governor Tom Ridge announced the homeland security advisory system.

And I also recently proposed a permanent Cabinet-level Department of Homeland Security to unite essential agencies that must work more closely together. Employees of this new agency will come to work every morning knowing their most important job is to protect their fellow citizens.

But I also want to make to make America a better place. And we can do that by promoting a sound economic policy. Any time someone wants to work and cannot find a job, I am concerned. That is why we passed a historic tax cut for the American people that will help promote job creation and economic growth. And I urge Congress to make this tax permanent.

*We already passed HR 1
 May want to talk about that and say that we continue to support that reform local etc.*

We also need education reform ... one that increases local control, insists on high standards, and leaves no child behind. And we must also continue to call upon the American people to love a neighbor as you would like to be love yourself. Many, including the DAR, are doing this already. And this is the gathering momentum of a thousand acts of compassion and kindness which show the world the true spirit of America.

I thank the Daughters of the American Revolution for your spirit and your service. May we always remember our noble past. And may we never stop looking forward to our country's great future. May God bless the Daughters of the American Revolution. And may God bless America.

Thank you very much. I am honored to join all of you at Focus on the Family as you celebrate your first twenty-five years. I especially want to salute my friend James Dobson for his leadership and his commitment to that sacred bedrock of our society—the American family.

For twenty-five years, Focus on the Family has sought to protect our families and promote our values. And they are values that you and I share together. We believe in fostering a culture of life – and that marriage and family are sacred institutions that should be preserved and strengthened.

We believe that life is a creation, not a commodity – and that our children are gifts to be loved and protected, not products to be designed and manufactured by human cloning.

We believe that protecting human dignity and promoting human rights should be at the center of America's foreign policy – and that our government should view the good people who work in faith-based charities as partners, not rivals.

We believe that the days of discriminating against religious institutions simply because they are religious must come to an end.

Faith teaches us that God has a special concern for the poor and that faith proves itself through actions and sacrifice, through acts of kindness and caring for those in need. For some people, Jesus's admonition to care for "the least of these" is an admirable moral teaching. For many Baptists, it is a way of life.

Faith is also a source of comfort during times of grief. We saw this in the aftermath of the attacks on September 11th. Millions of Americans turned to prayer for wisdom and resolve, for compassion and courage, and for grace and mercy. And in these moments of prayer we were reminded of important truths – that suffering is temporary, that hope is eternal, and that ruthless will not inherit the Earth.

Many of you have prayed for my family and me. We have felt sustained and uplifted by your prayers – and Laura and I are incredibly grateful to you for them. We consider your prayers to be among our most precious gifts.

Congratulations on twenty-five years. May God bless Focus on the Family. And may God bless America.

I am honored to address to the 111th National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution Annual Continental Congress.

One of the great things about living in the White House is that I have some great neighbors. And just right down the street from me is the DAR Constitution Hall. What a beautiful hall. And what a wonderful organization.

Since 1890, this outstanding organization has sought to honor the memory and the purpose of the American Revolution. Today, there are more than 170,000 DAR members in some 3,000 chapters all across America. And your service to your country is more important than ever.

Today, we find ourselves at war ... fighting an enemy whose evil is beyond comprehension. We did not seek this conflict, nor did we begin it. But we will fight it, and we will win it.

Fighting terror will be costly. And that is why I have proposed the largest increase in defense spending since Ronald Reagan was President. After all, while the price of freedom and security is high, it is never too high. Whatever it costs to defend our country, we will pay.

At the same time we fight this war overseas, we must protect and secure our homeland. Several weeks ago, at an event hosted by the DAR, Governor Tom Ridge announced the homeland security advisory system.

And I also recently proposed a permanent Cabinet-level Department of Homeland Security to unite essential agencies that must work more closely together. Employees of this new agency will come to work every morning knowing their most important job is to protect their fellow citizens.

But I also want to make to make America a better place. And we can do that by promoting a sound economic policy. Any time someone wants to work and cannot find a job, I am concerned. That is why we passed a historic tax cut for the American people that will help promote job creation and economic growth. And I urge Congress to make this tax permanent.

We also need education reform ... one that increases local control, insists on high standards, and leaves no child behind. And we must also continue to call upon the American people to love a neighbor as you would like to be love yourself. Many, including the DAR, are doing this already. And this is the gathering momentum of a thousand acts of compassion and kindness which show the world the true spirit of America.

I thank the Daughters of the American Revolution for your spirit and your service. May we always remember our noble past. And may we never stop looking forward to our country's great future. May God bless the Daughters of the American Revolution. And may God bless America.

Thank you very much. I am honored to speak to everyone at the National Association of Blacks in Criminal Justice as you gather for your 29th Annual Conference and Training Institute.

I thank all of you for your commitment to the cause of justice. And I salute you for working with the Department of Labor on the Ready for Work initiative to help find ways of helping people leave their past behind and build a better future.

A Last year, I announced one of the most important commitments of my administration, the faith-based and community initiative. The purpose is to apply the compassion of America to help solve the problems of our country.

This initiative recognizes the power of faith in helping heal some of our Nation's wounds. This initiative will rally the armies of compassion which are spread throughout the United States of America. And this initiative acknowledges that our greatest strength is the hearts and souls of the American people.

Since the attacks of September the 11th, it has become obvious to everyone how essential community and faith-based groups are to the well-being of our Nation. They have saved lives. They have provided hope. They have helped heal the Nation's wounds.

IS Right now, the office of Faith-Based + Community Initiatives is working to eliminate barriers that discriminate against community and faith-based organizations. Government cannot stand in the way of the good works of the people in our neighborhoods. And that's why I have urged the Department of Labor to work with all of you to develop a network of faith-based and community programs to help mentor and employ those who were once in prison.

Government must expedite and stand on the side of faith-based programs. We should not discriminate at the federal level against people who are trying to help us solve the Nation's problems.

This office will also work closely with members of Congress from both parties to pass legislation that will put government squarely on the side of our faith- and community based groups.

I salute all of you for what you have done and what you are doing. Working together, we can make a difference. Thank you. May God bless you. And may God bless America.
