THE SECRETARY OF EDUCATION
WASHINGTON

June 27, 2002

Another "old"
letter from 2002!

6/24/03

The President
The White House
Washington, DC 20500

Dear Mr. President:

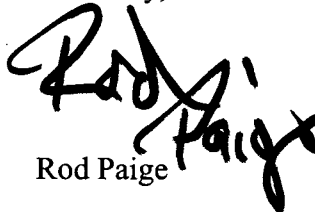

I wish to express my thanks for your kind letter, which was read at my surprise birthday celebration. You made my day truly special.

It is wonderful to be part of such a great team. I still find it hard to believe that in a city where secrets are often on the front page of the newspaper, such a surprise celebration could be pulled off successfully.

The celebration reminded me once again just how fortunate I am to be associated with such wonderful people and how honored I am to be serving in your Administration.

Best wishes.

Sincerely,

Rod Paige

THE PRESIDENT HAS SEEN

Dear Mr. President —

I want to thank you for the time you so graciously spent with my son and me when we were recently in Washington. John Charles was overwhelmed by the opportunity to meet you and by the entire Oval Office experience, a true story for his grandchildren. Surely no other intern can boast of a briefing on world affairs given by the President! His father was no less overwhelmed, as always, by his friend, The President of the United States of America.

I am grateful for the positive and encouraging remarks you made regarding my service as your Ambassador to Costa Rica. Embassy Costa Rica continues to strongly advance the CAFTA negotiations, the establishment of the International Law Enforcement Academy here in Costa Rica as the Western Hemispheric headquarters for combating transnational crime and our Bilateral Counter-Drug Maritime Agreement. President Pacheco's doctors have sent him home today as a result of high blood pressure and general fatigue but he is expected to be back on the job soon.

Irene and I, and of course our son John Charles, wish you and the First Lady all the very best.

With warm regards,

Sincerely,

John Danilovich

Dear Mr. President,

On behalf of Sylvia and myself, I want to thank you, George, for your and Laura's kindness and generosity in opening the White House to your Yale classmates on May 29th last.

Your and Laura's warmth and easy grace as host and hostess made us feel welcome - indeed, made me feel as if the years between us since Yale and DKE were but a few instead of thirty-five.

I mentioned that both of us are so very proud of all you both have done, the examples you have set and the leadership-by-doing that characterizes your role. Your welcoming presence at the White House reunion, given all that you've been preparing for, was a gift that we both feel fortunate to have received.

I can only trust that you might consider a similar get-together at our 40th - toward the end of your second term. If I can be helpful in your campaign even now for '04, perhaps your staff can point me in the right direction for ways I can contribute. It would be a privilege.

Sincerely, and with all good wishes for you and Laura and your family,

Re: Yale Class of 1968 Reunion

Dear President and Mrs. Bush,

I write to express my gratitude and appreciation for your gracious hospitality in opening your home to my wife Linda and me, and some 1,000-plus others in our reunion class and their guests, on Thursday, May 29. We left for, and arrived, in New Haven the next day bursting with pleasure and excitement following the event. The Class of '68 was the envy of all other reunion classes.

You were most gracious to host the event, particularly given the President's critically important trip scheduled for the very next morning. We were pleased to see him relaxing with his old friends before undertaking such an important task. And we were very impressed with the professionalism and warmth of the White House Staff, who treated us all as favored guests.

It was great fun. Thank you.

Sincerely yours,

Steven Finley

THE PRESIDENT HAS BEEN

Dear Mr. President:

This is a thank you note for your extraordinary hospitality in opening the White House to the Yale Class of 1968 Reunion.

As a former Baseball Team Owner how many times can you remember a rain date that worked out better than the original plan? I am pleased for all of our class that the rain forced the event into the White House. Your hospitality in opening the White House to 1,000 people was exceptional. Plus the circumstances showed off your amazing stamina.

The balance of the Reunion was set in motion by your party. As you went off to Poland and Russia, the Class's conversation keyed off of the privilege and the stimulation of starting the weekend by being with you at the White House. You will remember that Michael Mandelbaum of Johns Hopkins' SAIS could hardly be called a Republican. I thought that a comment that me made captured the sense of it. He concluded a seminar on foreign policy with the comment:

"I have two things to say. First, we certainly wouldn't want anyone from Harvard making foreign policy! And, second, say what you will, George Bush has already made himself into one of the major Presidents in American history on the basis of what he has done so far."

Mr. President I look forward to the rest. Please call on me anytime if I can be helpful. I will continue to look for ways that I can contribute to the cause and I will stay in touch.

Sincerely yours,

Robert A. F. Reisner

No: 02/11/89
June 24, 2003

The Embassy of Afghanistan in Washington DC presents its compliments to the Office of the White House and has the honor to herewith transmit translation of a letter by H.E. Hamid Karzai, President of the Transitional Islamic State of Afghanistan, addressed to the Honorable George W. Bush, President of the United States of America, on the occasion of the U.S. Independence Day, 4th of July.

It would be highly appreciated if the attached letter would be forwarded to its highest destination.

The Embassy of Afghanistan avails itself of this opportunity to renew to the Office of the White House the assurances of its highest consideration.

Washington DC

(Translation)

June 24, 2003

Dear Friend,

I am delighted, on behalf of myself, the people of Afghanistan and the Transitional Islamic State of Afghanistan, to convey my most sincere wishes to Your Excellency and the people of the United States of America, on the occasion of your National Independence Day, 4th of July.

As you are well aware, our nation together with the international community has aimed to restore rule of law in order to bring an atmosphere of peace and stability and to create a civil society based on democracy and social justice. The strengthening of peace and stability in Afghanistan will serve as a beneficial factor in maintaining regional and global peace and security.

The people of Afghanistan highly appreciate the active participation of the United States of America for its efforts in establishing a civil society, restoring peace and stability which would enhance the reconstruction process of Afghanistan.

We wish for continued cooperation by the United States of America in bringing peace and stability and to ending terrorism, which will result in the strengthening of relations between the peoples of our two countries.

In the end, availing myself of this opportunity, I wish Your Excellency much success, good health and the well being and prosperity of the people of the United States.

Respectfully,

(Signed) Hamid Karzai

THE PRESIDENT HAS SEEN

'03 JUN 25 PM 5:26

Dear Mr. President:

On June 26, 1963, at the height of the Cold War, President John F. Kennedy gave a historic speech in Berlin. President Kennedy's statement "Ich bin ein Berliner!" was a declaration of solidarity with Berlin, the symbolic city at the front line of the Cold War. He thus took a clear stance against the Soviet Union's urge to expand. Together with President Reagan's demand "Mr. Gorbachev, tear down this Wall!", CARE Packages, the Berlin Airlift Raisin Bombers, and Secretary of State George Marshall's economic reconstruction plan, the exclamation "Ich bin ein Berliner!" is one of the truly great symbols of the freedom of Berlin and the growing acceptance of Germany by the states of the free world.

Kennedy's Berlin speech is a milestone of German history and has become a steadfast anchor for German-American friendship.

In the age of information technology and globalization, forty years are a long time. The community of values to which Germany and the United States of America belong offers considerable room for development; although we have over the past decades used this room for development in different ways on both sides of the Atlantic, we have always maintained a high esteem and respect for the historical, cultural, and sociological roots of our partner country. I am firmly convinced that this will remain so in the future.

On the occasion of the fortieth anniversary of this speech I would like to thank you, Mr. President, and the American people for extending to us your hand in friendship; it is a friendship for which Kennedy created a lasting symbol forty years ago, and it has stood the test, even in difficult times.

Dear Mr. President

We have come a long way since the brief stay you had with us on 9-11. Thank you for your hand written note on the support you received at Barksdale. Your bombers, B-1, B-2 and B-52, have performed magnificently. The crews and support teams of the Mighty 8th Air Force are ready to continue the fight and support your national objectives. Every man and women in our military appreciates your steadfast leadership.

I will retire from the Air Force in June 02 and believe I'll end up in the DC area. If there is anything I can do to further your national goals, I stand ready to assist.

The President
The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. President:

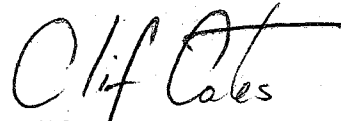

As one of the members of the Yale Class of 1968 who attended dinner at the White House on May 29, I would like to express my sincere thanks to you for opening your home to your classmates. For a man whose responsibilities are so great and whose time is so scarce, it was a truly gracious thing to do. But that comes as no surprise to me. That is the kind of person you are and, I suspect, one of the reasons you are our President.

Everything about the occasion was memorable. It was the most efficiently-run social affair that I have ever seen. One thousand people never had to wait for food or drink. There was always a cheerful person at hand to assist your guests in any way they wished. For that your military aides deserve great credit. The security, though unobtrusive, was both broad and deep—as it certainly ought to be. Your home is lovely, and I appreciate the fact that you opened up much more of it to your classmates than most visitors to the White House ever get to see. Finally, if you will excuse a politically incorrect observation, I was struck by how handsome a couple are you and the First Lady. Mrs. Bush especially, whom I watched standing on a small balcony talking to a friend below, was stunning. Television images are no substitute for a personal appearance.

On a more serious note, I am grateful that the nation's chief executive is a man of vision, principle, candor, and determination. With these characteristics, you have confounded both America's cynical allies and its enemies and by so doing have significantly increased the security of this country. I am proud to be your classmate and proud to be a citizen of the United States during your administration.

Sincerely,

Dear Mr. President and Mrs. Bush,

Thank you, thank you, thank you! My wife, Gwen, and I want to thank you both so very much for making the effort to have our 1968 class reunion dinner at the White House. It was so very good to see you again, Mr. President, and to see that you have lost none of that personal warmth and friendliness that you had at Yale. Both Gwen and I were sure that we would receive a hospitable welcome, but we were astounded by your willingness to mix with the crowd, to talk with us, have your photos taken, and to graciously put up with some of the silly antics and remarks.

As an American Studies major at Yale, just being in the White House was a moving experience, but your personal attention and warmth made it an unforgettable night. I especially treasure the opportunity that we had to talk about world poverty for even a brief few minutes. Please do put even more emphasis on the USA helping out.

Again, we are truly appreciative for the wonderful personal attention that you gave to us and for your inviting us and our Yale class to the White House for the reunion dinner. We have voted for you, donated what little we can and prayed for you both. We will continue with renewed fervor.

If there are ways that we can help out, do please let us know.

Gratefully yours,

Dear Mr. President:

Thank you and Mrs. Bush for inviting our Yale Class of 1968 to dinner at The White House on May 29th. It was a pleasure for me and my 11-year old son Geoffrey Goddard to attend. Geoffrey particularly enjoyed looking into the Oval Office and seeing all the portraits of former Presidents of this country. I know that everyone present appreciated the opportunity to visit The White House in such an informal and congenial atmosphere.

Our classmate Don Etra (with whom I am close friends) told me that he is very pleased to have been appointed a Director of the Holocaust Museum and also to have made a recent trip to Poland on your behalf. Don is certainly one of the finest members of our class.

If your staff has a moment, my son Geoffrey would greatly appreciate a note from you acknowledging his special visit to The White House.

Begins

“Excellency,

I have the pleasure in conveying to you warm greetings and felicitations on the occasion of the Independence Day of the United States of America.

Bilateral relations between our two countries are of long-standing and are characterized by mutual respect and shared interests. It is our consistent endeavour that this important relationship is further augmented to the mutual benefit of our two peoples.

Our common objectives are also characterized by our quest for peace and stability in our region and our joint struggle in the global war against terrorism, to which we are firmly committed. We deeply appreciate the U.S. role in defusing tensions in our region and in the revival of the Pakistan-India dialogue process.

I take this opportunity to convey my very best wishes for your health and happiness and for the everlasting progress and prosperity of the people of the United States of America.

Please accept, Excellency, the assurances of my highest consideration.

ALEX & EMMA

Starring Kate Hudson, Luke Wilson and Robert Downey Jr. Directed by Rob Reiner. Produced by Rob Reiner, Alan Greisman, Elie Samaha and Jeremy Leven. Romance. Rated PG-13 for sexual content and some language. A Warner Bros. release. Running time: 96 mins.

Alex Sheldon is an author whose writer's block is the least of his problems--he also happens to be flat broke and owes Cuban loan sharks $100,000. The thugs give Alex an ultimatum: pay up in 30 days or wind up dead. The only way Alex is going to get that kind of money is by finishing his novel, which is currently less than one sentence long. He's got some idea of what he wants the story to be, but he just can't seem to get it out onto paper. Now lacking both inspiration and a laptop, Alex secures the services of opinionated stenographer, Emma Dinsmore, to help him complete the novel and get paid by his publisher in time to save his skin. The story of Adam Shipley soon begins to emerge. The fictional Adam is a romantic young writer who has been hired to tutor the children of Polina Delacroix, a chic, gorgeous French woman in dire financial straits. The story that reveals itself is of the obsessive love that Adam develops for Polina, while ignoring the potential for true love with Polina's au pair, known in successive incarnations as the stern Swede Ylva, Elsa the bawdy German, Eldora the Spanish beauty, and down-to-earth American Anna. Meanwhile, Alex and Emma spend their days and nights working together on the novel. Emma challenges his ideas at every turn, and her initially irritating but undeniably intriguing input begins to influence Alex and his story. Soon, real life begins to imitate art--and art, to imitate life.

THE HULK

Starring Eric Bana , Jennifer Connell , Sam Elliott, Josh Lucas and Nick Nolte. Directed by Ang Lee. Produced by Gale Anne Hurd , Avi Arad , James Schamus and Larry J. Franco. SCI-FI. Rated PG-13 for Sci-fi action violence, some disturbing images and brief partial nudity. A Universal Pictures release. Running time: 138 min.

Scientist Bruce Banner has, to put it mildly, anger management issues. His quiet life as a brilliant researcher working with cutting edge genetic technology conceals a nearly forgotten and painful past. His ex-girlfriend and fellow researcher, Betty Ross, has tired of Bruce's cordoned off emotional terrain and resigns herself to remaining an interested onlooker to his quiet life--until a simple oversight in the lab leads to an explosive situation in which Bruce heroically saves a life by absorbing a normally deadly dose of gamma radiation. Believing himself to have emerged from the accident unscathed, Bruce can't deny he's experiencing some strange side effects--including blackouts and the feeling that there is some kind of strange and dark, yet attractive, presence within him. All the while an impossibly strong, rampaging creature, who comes to be known as the Hulk, continues its sporadic appearances, cutting a swath of destruction in his wake. But Betty Ross has her theories, she knows the shadowy figure lurking in the background, Bruce's father David, is somehow connected. She may be the only one who understands the link between the scientist and the Hulk, but her efforts may be too late to save both man and creature.

HOLLYWOOD HOMICIDE

Starring Harrison Ford, Josh Hartnett, Lena Olin, Bruce Greenwood. Directed by Ron Shelton. Produced by Ron Shelton and Lou Pitt. Crime/Drama. Rated PG-13 for violence, sexual situations and language. A Sony Pictures release. Running time 111 min.

Veteran detective Joe Gavilan, a weary but tenacious police veteran at the top of his game professionally, though his personal life is rapidly unraveling. His partner, K.C. Calden, seems to be more interested in his side jobs as a yoga teacher and aspiring actor than in the high-profile gangland-style murder they are currently investigating. Welcome to the land of blue skies, palm trees and dead bodies.

2 FAST 2 FURIOUS

Starring Paul Walker, Tyrese Gibson, Eva Mendes, Cole Hauser. Directed by John Singleton. Produced by Neal H Moritz. A Universal release.

Action/Thriller. Rated PG-13 for violence, language and some sensuality.

Running time: 100 min.

Speed--it's easy to get and it's as close as the nearest set of high-performance wheels. Brian O'Connor, now a disgraced cop, fell victim to it--and now he's paying the price. As far as his bosses and the FBI brass are concerned, the hothead undercover officer threw one of their largest investigations ever. After losing his badge and any chance of redemption along with it, O'Connor is given one last chance when the feds in Miami need his help to collar Carter Verone, a flashy businessman whose using his import/export business as a cover for an international money laundering cartel. Customs has had Verone under intense surveillance for over a year with nothing more to show for it than the kingpin's link to illegal street racing. With their backs against the wall and time running out, officials put out a call for O'Connor to do what he does best--talk the talk and push the metal. But the rule-breaking loner has his own demands before taking on the job. He insists on recruiting his childhood friend and ex-con Roman Pearce as his partner. The Feds and Agent Markham offer Pearce, an accomplished criminal with an aptitude for barrier-shattering speed, a deal--work with O'Connor and his impressive rap sheet will disappear. Now, it's last chance for both, ex-con and ex-cop, and their ticket out of disgrace is bringing down Verone. But the lines become blurred once again for O'Connor with the appearance of undercover agent Monica Fuentes, the key to entering Verone's world who may herself be in bed with the shady entrepreneur.

THE IN-LAWS

Starring Michael Douglas, Albert Brooks, Ryan Reynolds and Lindsay Sloane. Directed by Andrew Fleming. A Warner Bros. release. Comedy/Romance. Rated Pg-13 for suggestive humor, language, some drug references and action violence. Running time: 98 min.

When prospective fathers-in-law Steve Tobias and Jerry Peyser meet for the first time to celebrate their children's upcoming marriage, the cake hits the fan. Dr. Jerome Peyser is a mild-mannered podiatrist with a well-organized daily routine designed to eliminate all possible sources of stress. Meanwhile, daredevil CIA operative Steve Tobias moves through life like a heat-seeking missile. His average day consists of dodging bullets, stealing private jets and negotiating with international arms smugglers. Now he's giving potential father-of-the-bride Jerry a serious case of pre-nuptial jitters. Steve's dramatic entrances and exits, his cryptic references to a Russian runaway named Olga and his fight with a gunman in a restaurant washroom causes Jerry to see a vision of his daughter's perfectly planned wedding blowing up in his face. As far as Jerry's concerned, letting Steve into his family takes "til death do us part" way too literally. Before he can say the wedding is off, Jerry suddenly finds himself embroiled in the chaos that follows in Steve's wake as he is dragged kicking and screaming into a series of perilous adventures that take the mismatched in-laws-to-be halfway around the world.

Honorable Mr. George W. Bush
President of the United States of America

Your Excellency,

I write this letter to you as a token of my esteem for your cause. I am a friend of your father's, since the days when we lived in China. In you, I see many similarities in temperament and values. Your fight for freedom has enlightened many people globally, and though many are opposed to it, you have stood by your cause and are willing to go to any extreme to attain your quest for justice, humanity, and peace. Only a man of integrity can endure such a battle, and you have proven to the world that you are that man. I speak on behalf of the majority of Kuwaitis, who lived under barbaric circumstances during the invasion of Kuwait. Seven months of occupation under the tyrannical regime of a brutal dictator. Your father is a hero to our country, and now, you have become a hero to our country and Iraq. I wish you the best of luck in all your endeavors as you are a competent and sincere leader worthy of admiration.

Yours sincerely,

Qasim Omar Al Yagout

Dear Mr. President:

In the hope that this letter might get to you, I write to express my and my wife's thanks for inviting your classmates to visit with you and Mrs. Bush in the White House. It was a unique and wonderful experience that we will always remember.

Who would have thought that a young Cuban exile would be sitting in a Spanish class next to someone destined to become the President of the United States? I guess Yale is one of those places where this could happen...

The country is lucky to have you. May God continue to guide you in the years ahead.

Un afectuoso saludo,

me

P.S. If you are interested in obtaining an opinion on US-Cuba relations from someone who much loves both countries, please let me know.

Dear George and Laura,

Wow! Fantastic! Over the top!
The Yale Class of '68 reunion party was truly wonderful. What a great environment to renew old friendships and socialize. The paintings and decor were inspiring and rekindled my sense of patriotism. The flower arrangements were awesome, the food was tasty and our hosts were so relaxed and personable.

George, when you told me at Yale that you were playing rugby, I was impressed because it takes a lot of courage and toughness to play that sport. I still admire your toughness and courage, and now I also admire your generosity. Thank you again for the great White House bash!

You met my wonderful wife Sally. We have four children and value our family right up there with God, country and Yale as I know you do. Enclosed is a snapshot from 12/02.

Best and sincerest wishes for your continuing success
as President and a family man.
