ask Pete

Hi Pete,

Have you heard anything on the possibility of me sitting down w/Karl for the book? My deadline is approaching rapidly -- end of January -- and I'm eager to get his thoughts.

The book, as you know, is about Wolfowitz and the Bush Doctrine. And while I told him I can't make any guarantees about its contents, I did promise that it would reflect the fact that he has always been an adviser, not the decisionmaker. It's a point Wolfowitz had made to me each time we have spoken. So, for that reason, I'm especially interested in getting input from Karl, you and Mike.

Thanks.
Steve

Dear Mr. President-

I thought you might like a copy of this picture of us that was taken Monday, July 21st as you were coming off of Marine One. It was such a great moment for my family and I. My mom says this picture will mean a lot more to me as I get older, but I will tell you its made me feel pretty special already. My grandparents had 50 reprints made and are passing them out to everyone they know. I think I might be giving your 2004 campaign its start here in Texas.

Thank you so much for being a man of God. My parents talk to me all the time about being a leader. We pray daily for you as you seek the Lord to guide our country. We are so proud you are a man of integrity and a man who honors Jesus. I am surrounded by people who are praying that when I am older I will give my heart to Him as well.

My parents and I also wanted to thank you for the tax relief check. We put ours back into the economy the day we got it. My family and I pray blessings over your family, your administration, and all who work with you.

Thanks for sharing a few moments with me.

Phil -

Is this what you had in mind? (PLEASE BE SURE TO NOTE THE FOOTNOTE!!)
af

The following examples of functionally equivalent replacements under today's rule include:

- Replacing worn out pipes in a chemical process plant with pipes that are constructed of different metallurgy (e.g., to help reduce corrosion, erosion, or chemical compatibility problems).
- Replacing an analog controller with a digital controller, even though a similar analog controller can still be purchased and even though the new controller would allow for more precise control. A good example was presented to us by the forest products industry during our review of the NSR program's impacts on the energy sector. A company in that sector needed to replace outdated analog controllers at a series of six batch digesters. In this case, the original controllers were no longer manufactured. The new digital controllers, costing approximately $50,000, are capable of receiving inputs from the digester vessel temperature, pressure, and chemical/steam flow. The new controllers would have more precisely filled and pressurized digesters with chips, chemicals, and steam, thus bringing a batch digester on line faster.
- Replacing an existing mill or pulverizer (e.g., grinding clinker in a cement factory or coal for a boiler) with a new one of a different type because both new and old equipment serve the same purpose (even if the characteristics of the ground material would be different before and after the replacement).

- Replacing existing spray paint nozzles with new ones that might atomize the spray better or have a higher transfer efficiency because the "before" and "after" nozzles serve the same function.

7As discussed in more detail below, although such activities would be functionally equivalent, they would still need to meet other criteria to qualify for the ERP. For example, a functionally equivalent replacement does not qualify for the ERP if it results in a change to a basic design parameter of the affected unit. If an activity does not qualify for RMRR under the ERP, the case-by-case RMRR approach would still be available to the owner or operator under those circumstances. And, of course, the activity will not be a modification and, hence, will not trigger NSR unless it results in a significant emissions increase.

THE CHAIRMAN

The Honorable Karl Rove
Assistant to the President
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW
Washington, DC 20500

Mr. Rove:

I am writing to request a meeting with you – preferably breakfast or lunch, if your schedule permits – to discuss the NEH and the President’s much-appreciated leadership in and support of the “We the People” initiative.

As you know, we are in the midst of trying to implement and secure congressional funding for the President’s initiative. Throughout this process, we have benefited from the counsel of your able deputy Tim Goeglein, who suggested I contact you about a meeting. I know your time is limited, and appreciate any you can spare.

March 26, 2004

Dear Susan,

6/6/99

Thank you for taking the time to meet yesterday morning. It was a pleasure discussing with you, BJ, and Melissa my interest in serving Mr. Rove after I graduate in June. Serving as an intern to Mr. Rove remains my highest priority. I will gladly work as long and as hard as an employee, and am confident that my transition into Mr. Rove's office would be smooth and effective. Working at Bush-Cheney '04 last year taught me much about the professionalism President Bush expects from his team. Serving Jack Oliver taught me the value of confidence, conviction, and independence in such a fast-paced environment.

It would be an honor to serve our President once again, and I can think of no more exciting and challenging way to do that than in the Office of the Senior Advisor. If you have any more questions or would like me to provide any other references, please let me know. Thank you very much, once again, for the opportunity to meet.

yours sincerely,

Jack Krouse

Dear BJ,

Thank you very much once again for arranging an interview on such short notice. I enjoyed meeting with you, Susan, and Melissa about my interest in serving Mr. Rove after I graduate in June. Thank you as well for arranging each of the other interviews. It was a highly rewarding and productive day.

Serving as an intern to Mr. Rove remains my highest priority. I will gladly work as long as any staff member, and am confident that my transition into Mr. Rove's office would be smooth and effective.

Working at Bush-Cheney '04 last year taught me much about the professionalism and high standards President Bush expects from his team. Serving Jack Oliver taught me the value of confidence, conviction, and independence in such a fast-paced environment.

It would be an honor to return to Washington to serve our President once again, and I can think of no more exciting and rewarding way to do that than in the Office of the Senior Advisor. If you have any more questions or would like me to provide additional references, please let me know. Thank you again for taking the time to meet and for so kindly arranging each of my interviews.

yours sincerely, Jack House

Re: Appeal of Anti-Competition and Anti- Small Business Ruling by DC Circuit Court

Dear Mr. President:

On behalf of the Mexican American Chamber of Commerce and Industry of Southern California, we respectfully urge the Administration to immediately appeal the Circuit Court ruling regarding local phone competition to the U.S. Supreme Court. This activist court's ruling could dismantle local telephone competition in California and throughout the nation, harming consumers and small businesses.

California's small businesses and telephone consumers, and particularly minority owned businesses, have just begun to enjoy the benefits of emerging competition in the local telecommunications marketplace. Small business owners finally have choices beside the local Bell monopolies, and are benefiting from lower prices and better services that weren't available before competition took hold. Some competitive local phone companies are even offering tailored services to Spanish-speaking consumers like many of our members.

Competition has only taken hold because of the rules, established by the FCC, that promote competition at the State level. But now, this recent Circuit Court ruling would set us back in California and nationwide, and dismantle the progress we've made.

We urge you to ask the Supreme Court to overturn this ruling. Please help preserve local phone competition in America and the benefits it brings to small business owners throughout California and the nation.

Sincerely,

Caesar C. Cantu, President
Mexican American Chamber of Commerce and Industry of Southern California

Dear Karl,

I just returned from leading an American trade delegation to Poland, London (to attend the largest direct marketing conference in Europe) and France. Without a doubt, the time we spent in Poland was the highlight of our trip.

Your friend, Ambassador Christopher Hill, sends his best regards! He was very kind to meet with us and his staff, headed up by Commercial Counselor Edgar D. Fulton.

I have lead 48 Trade Missions to different parts of the world during the past 14 years. Without a doubt, the quality of the people and information we experienced at our Embassy in Poland was second to none! They were professional, outgoing and did a superior job of helping U.S. firms move forward in this interesting market.

Keep up the good work on behalf of the President. He has many friends in Poland and without a doubt, Poland is the largest and most dynamic of the ten new nations joining the European Union on May 1, 2004 of this year.

Best Regards

Bill McNutt

Mr. Karl Rove
The White House
1600 Pennsylvania Ave.
Washington, D.C.

Dear Mr. Rove:

I am 87. Since I became of voting age I voted for every Republican nominee for president except, (that from the far reaches of the Pacific ocean) I voted for FDR in 1944. I think that it can be fairly said that I am a Republican, but for this election coming up there is serious doubt in my mind. Why? Let me elaborate:

(A) We have gone from the largest budget surplus to the largest federal debt in our government's history and which apparently will keep growing and growing to an estimated 4.7 trillion! Almost uncontrollable as the genie who escaped from the bottle. This is a terrible legacy for my children, grand children and great grand children and is liable to significantly cause the present middle class standard of living to erode significantly.

A partial cause of this is the present program of tax cuts which are evidently favorable to the wealthy and to business but not to those of us who are in the middle income or lower income brackets. Although the tax cuts are apparently helping the stock market they are not helping the 2.3 million who have lost their jobs due to "out sourcing" and to increased productivity. Although the administration forecast the creation of 100M to 150M new jobs each month the real figures are about 25M new jobs per month since November I wonder what percentage of these new jobs are of the same financial level as that of the jobs that have gone to China and India?

The deficit figure does not include the billions that have been taken from Soc. Sec. surpluses without issuing government securities to the Social Security administration. Therefore, the debt is really much greater than the figures given to the public. It appears to be more slight of hand.

In addition nothing has been done about financing the additional cost to medicare attributable to the recently adopted drug prescription program.

Also the occupation of Iraq is liable to be long lasting and expensive and therefore creating more debt to the extent of ????

(B) We are now DEPENDENT on foreign countries for oil and natural gas. And what has the administration done about it? As far as I know - nothing, except to make moves to open restricted areas to drilling. Wrong move unless and until vigorous efforts are made to reduce the consumption oil. One thing that could be done would be to tax ALL vehicles that primarily carry passengers and that get less than 20 miles per gallon, without the duplicitous slight of hand of classifying SUVs as trucks.

© Furthermore we are now DEPENDENT on foreign countries for CAPITAL. I read that 44% of our securities are held by or in Asian countries. A fine kettle of fish we will be in if a substantial amount of foreign held securities are dumped on the market as the result of a significant drop in the value of the dollar.

(D) We have also become DEPENDENT on foreign countries for labor. The president's scheme to enfranchise two million illegal aliens in this country will be a disaster in the making unless we vigorously and rigorously eliminate the influx of illegal aliens.

I just heard that the president's budget proposes raising the cost to veterans of prescriptions from the Veterans Administration to $15.00 from $7.00, and charging a onetime(?) fee of $250.00 and restricting or limiting the services to class 8 veterans.. If these increases don't alienate veterans (I am a veteran) and the various veteran's organizations nothing will. Please clarify.

I sincerely hope that your answers to the foregoing will keep me steadfast in the Republican camp.

Very Truly Yours,

Malcolm MacCalman

SENATE COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE FOR
SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION NO. 41

WHEREAS, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has mandated that the United States Army Corps of Engineers implement a plan for operating the Missouri River that calls for a "spring rise" and a "summer low flow." This plan would result in an increase in the flow of the Missouri River in the spring when the risk of flooding of bottomland farms is already high. The plan also would result in a reduction of the flow of the Missouri River in the summer of each year, thereby negatively affecting farmers, utilities, and businesses from Omaha to the Gulf of Mexico, purportedly to improve habitat for the pallid sturgeon, an endangered fish; and

WHEREAS, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has dictated these controversial flow changes primarily to benefit only a short segment of the Missouri River where pallid sturgeon have not even been found in six years of sampling; and

WHEREAS, analyses have shown that low river flows could actually degrade habitat important to the pallid sturgeon in segments of the lower Missouri and Mississippi Rivers where pallid sturgeon have been found in recent years; and

WHEREAS, in the summer months of 2002 and 2003, record low flows on the Missouri River increased transportation costs for Missouri farmers by halting navigation, increased power plant cooling costs for private utilities, increased drinking water treatment costs for public utilities across the state of Missouri, and caused water quality violations with the temperature in the Missouri River exceeding 90 degrees. Despite the economic harm already experienced by Missourians, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has unilaterally mandated summer low flows during the next two years that are virtually identical to those experienced in 2002 and 2003; and

WHEREAS, while the United States Fish and Wildlife Service has failed to provide sufficient scientific evidence that proves that their mandated "spring rise" and "summer low flow" will improve habitat for the pallid sturgeon, analysis has shown that their proposal will increase the risk of flooding bottomland farms along the Missouri River, will result in economic harm to public and private utilities, and will risk the jobs of those who rely on the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers for their livelihoods; and

WHEREAS, the so-called "drought conservation measures" under consideration by the United States Army Corps of Engineers for inclusion in the Missouri River Master Manual would take away usable water from Missourians by shifting the storage of more water to upstream reservoirs while decreasing the amount of water available for other designated downstream uses; and

WHEREAS, the Missouri River contributes up to 65 percent of the Mississippi River flow at St. Louis during low-water conditions; and

WHEREAS, reduction of Missouri River flows would result in more frequent and more costly impediments to commerce on the Mississippi River where more than 120 million tons of cargo, which includes 60 percent of the nation's grain harvest, is shipped annually past St. Louis.

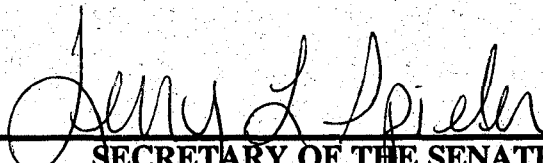

WHEREAS, the United States Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals recently affirmed that the dominant functions of the Missouri River Reservoir System are flood control and navigation, with recreation and other interests being secondary uses:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the members of the Missouri Senate, Ninety-Second General Assembly, Second Regular Session, the House of Representatives concurring therein, hereby respectfully request that the President of the United States direct the United States Fish and Wildlife Service and the United States Army Corps of Engineers to develop a plan for operating the Missouri River Reservoir System that will not increase the risk of flooding for bottomland farmers and will not harm the economy of the Midwestern states by failing to provide adequate flows to meet all designated downstream uses on the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers; and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that the Secretary of the Missouri Senate be instructed to prepare properly inscribed copies of this resolution for the President of the United States, each member of the Missouri Congressional Delegation, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service, and the United States Army Corps of Engineers.

Terry L. Spieler, Secretary of the Senate, and Stephen S. Davis, Chief Clerk of the House, do hereby certify that the aforementioned is a true and correct copy of Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 41, adopted by the Senate on March 9, 2004, and concurred in by the House on March 11, 2004.

The White House
Washington, D.C.

Dear Sirs:

The Vietnamese American Community of the USA and its local affiliates supported the Bush-Cheney ticket for 2000-2004 and will support it again for 2004-2008 because of its great achievements. Your valiant administration has brought security and prosperity to the American people, liberated the Iraqis from an egregious dictatorship, and stopped the atrocious activities of international terrorists for the whole world.

Looking forward to your 2004-2008 term, we hereby respectfully ask you to be more forceful and specific in your support of our fight for human rights and democracy for the Vietnamese people. Please demand that the Hanoi regime release all religious leaders that it has imprisoned in flagrant violation of the freedom of religion. Please also demand that Hanoi set free all political dissenters and allow them to run for public offices, to have a voice in the National Assembly.

In the last four years, the Hanoi regime has continued its oppression of human rights. Its promise to restore human rights and democracy for the Vietnamese people has time and again proved to be empty. And while it begs for economic assistance from the United States, it has sided with the Taliban and Saddam Hussein in denouncing the United States. It has not forgotten the past; it still considers the United States as its enemy even though billions of American dollars are being sent to Vietnam every year.

We sincerely hope that you will allow us to meet with you at the White House soon after the beginning of your second term so that we may express to you our concerns about Vietnam more comprehensively.

Respectfully,

Tich Truong, MD

Dear Mr. Rove:

The Big Dig in Boston is costing federal taxpayers all over the country a ton of money, all for the local benefit of an economically thriving city whose airport ranks only 17th among U.S. cities in passenger volume.

What has been the environmental impact of the Big Dig? The EPA web site states that only 25% of the equipment used in the "Big Dig" has been retrofitted to reduce emissions. What about the other 75%?

It seems to me you could make a campaign issue about Boston Democrat politicians' hypocritical double standard on environmentalism—heavy regulation everywhere else, but NIMBY.

Very truly yours,

I am writing this letter to solicit your help concerning unfair trade practices of the Chinese government. My intent is to state that the textile industry, as well as all American manufacturing, would like to compete on a level playing field. As you know, this is not happening today.

My community has experienced several plant closures due to cheap, low cost imports. Our quality of life is quickly deteriorating in this county. Please help us fight this trade injustice! I have been in textile manufacturing many years. However, at this time we need your support and voice in Washington.

Thank you,

I would appreciate any help that you can give to keep jobs in the United States.

I am supporting the person who will help keep jobs in the United States and out of China.

Wash.) grilled Albright and Rumsfeld with equal vigor.

The panel also was confronted with the administration's refusal to allow National Security Adviser Condoleezza Rice to testify publicly on the grounds that it would violate the separation-of-power doctrine.

A group of eight Democratic senators led by New York's Charles Schumer and Hillary Clinton, noting Rice's predecessor Sandy Berger, have testified before Congress in the past, wrote to Bush asking for his consent.

But their request needs to be subject to a balancing test that weighs executive privileges against a desire for accountability in a democratic society. In the absence of any sign that Rice's earlier testimony behind closed doors was evasive or unforthcoming, and in light of the administration's offer to have her testify again in camera rather than on camera, we believe Bush's effort to protect his office should prevail.

Yesterday's hearing was marked by sharp questioning of CIA Director George Tenet about a staff report made public Tuesday about faulty and incomplete intelligence that hampered efforts to take military action against al Qaeda. On the table, too, were charges by former counterterrorism official Richard Clarke, detailed in his new book, that both administrations failed to heed his warnings about al Qaeda's intentions.

Nevertheless, the congressionally mandated commission is performing an invaluable public service by seeking to learn from the mistakes of the past to help prevent terrorist attacks in the future.

William Burns held talks with Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy. Burns is the highest U.S. government official to visit Libya in more than 30 years; his trip became possible when Khadafy moved in December to give up his secret weapons of mass destruction program. Meanwhile, Assad's evil isn't limited to his own population. He has let foreign terrorists cross the border into Iraq in an effort to...

From Jim Martin, president, 60 Plus Association:

Your March 23 article "House Dems launch spring offensive on Medicare law" should have been listed under the banner "Old News" instead of "News." Or perhaps "Demagoguery."

I was chief of staff to Rep. Edward Gurney (R-Fla.) when President Johnson's Medicare bill first passed. I note with pride that my boss voted for the bill. The demagoguery of Medicare is old hat, and the current crop of Democrats' suggesting "Republicans' true intentions to undermine Medicare" is as full of baloney today as it ever has been.

The seniors I represent know better.

I'm most enamored with the new Medicare reforms for the cost controls inherent in them.

The president in a recent speech cited how Medicare would pay the extended hospital stays for ulcer surgery — on average, a $28,000 tab — yet Medicare would not pay for the drugs that eliminate the cause of most ulcers — on average, only $500.

And there are other examples: costs well in excess of $100,000 for surgery and post-operative care for heart patients paid for by Medicare — but the blood-thinning drugs that could help prevent heart ailments in the first place, not paid for. That doesn't make sense. That is why this new-look Medicare is a huge step forward. The president was correct when he said medicine had changed, Medicare hadn't.

It boggles the mind that this sort of marketplace reform can be demonized. On behalf of senior citizens, I call on House Democrats to stop this nonsense. Arlington, Va.

the rug of one highly charitable finding from the inspector general's office, a finding that resulted from the administration investigating its own chief political strategist during a competitive election year.

Ironically, York hit the nail on the head when he insisted that federal agencies and the administration did not deviate from "the norm" when they ignored warnings from scientists and sent more water to Klamath irrigation ditches than to a drought-parched river and its endangered salmon.

According to state and federal biologists, the subsequent record-low flows turned the river into a death trap, exterminating over 34,000 returning salmon in the largest adult fish kill in American history. Coastal and river communities now face years of reduced fishing harvests and continued depressed local economies.

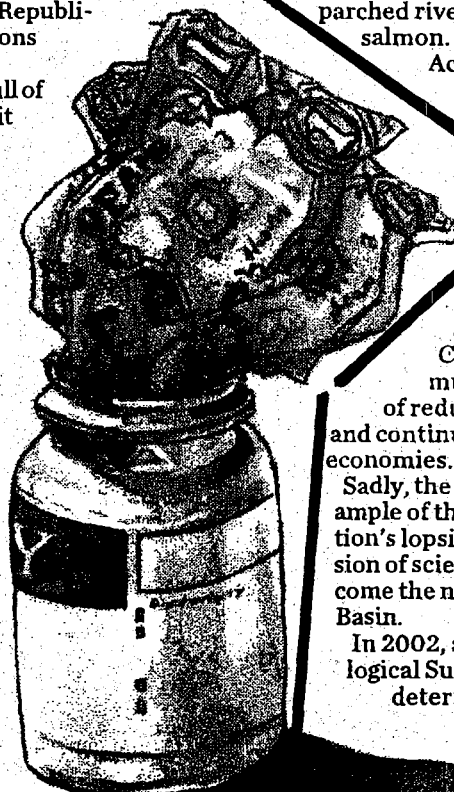

Sadly, the tragedy was just one example of the Bush administration's lopsided policy and suppression of science that has indeed become the norm in the Klamath Basin.

In 2002, an extensive U.S. Geological Survey economic study determined returning water to the Klamath River for fish and recreation would bring millions more dollars to the local economy than sending it to irrigators. The administration buried the report until The Wall Street Journal broke the story in November 2002.

In 2003, a federal District Court judge declared the administration's Klamath water plan "arbitrary and capricious," and in violation of the Endangered Species Act. She ordered the plan rewritten.

Since late 2001, the administration's inaction has delayed release of a definitive scientific study that was commissioned by the Department of the Interior in 1998 to establish the true water

B J Georgen,
Karl Rowe's Office
The White House

RE: AAHOA Convention April 22, 2004.

Dear B J Georgen,

First of all, I wanted to thank you and your office for helping us get Deputy Assistant Secretary of Commerce Doug Baker to attend the AAHOA (Asian American Hotel Owners Association).

I know you tried your best to help our organization, NAIRA.

I would however, like to request a taped message from the President of not more than 3 minutes. A message that simply would say thanks for the invite and sorry he could not make it. He does support the small business community and the Asian Indian community success story in Entrepreneurship. Something to this effect.

Can we get something like this on a tape?

This 3-minute tape will surely go a long way.

Look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Hitesh Patel
